

Ukraine Advocates Push Biden for Strategic Plan to Win the War

NEW YORK – Razom, a U.S. nonprofit and a top advocate for continued U.S. assistance to Ukraine, weighs in on the Biden Administration’s inaction on the Ukraine Security Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2024, signed into law on April 24, 2024.

The statement below is attributable to Mykola Murskyj, Program Director, Razom Advocacy:

“While we commend President Biden, Speaker Johnson, and Members of Congress for their work in passing the most recent supplemental appropriations package for Ukraine, we are disappointed to see that the Biden Administration missed the June 8th deadline to produce a strategic plan to help ‘hasten Ukrainian victory’ against Russia’s invasion, as mandated by the Ukraine Security Supplemental Appropriations Act.

“There are those around the United States who wonder whether there is a comprehensive plan to help Ukraine defeat Russia’s invading forces. A patchwork of aid without a strategic plan conveys confusion when we know that President Biden is staunchly pro-Ukraine and anti-Putin.

“When the United States won the Cold War and helped the people suffering behind the Iron Curtain to free themselves from tyrants in Moscow, we showed that democracy could triumph over dictatorship. The time has come to show that freedom can still triumph over tyranny. If America retreats, the Kremlin wins—and we will have a bigger problem on our hands once Putin breaks through our NATO allies’ borders.

“The bottom line: stopping World War Three requires stopping Russia’s march into Europe.”
